The 1921 mid-winter session of the Bishops' Council of the A. M. E. Church has gone into history. The citizens of Dallas did their full duty towards making preparations for the coming of the Council and for it. entertainment while here. The responsibility for raising the money needed to complete St. James Temple, so the Council could meet there as promised, and for the entertainment.

needed to complete St. James Temple, so the Council could meet there as promised, and for the entertainment of the visitors while here, was placed upon a Citizen' Committee formed for that purpose in response to an appeal made to the people by Dr. Abington, pastor.

From the date of its organization in November last, until the Council adjourned, the Committee labored day and night to make a success of ts work and a good name for Dallas and its people. In discussing the matter, Dr. Hamilton chairman of the committee said: "The response of the people to the appeal of the committee for funds and homes was prompt and liberal. Everybody worked willAngly and the people contributed gladly and cheerfully. We are deeply indebted to so many people who worked hard to make a success of the campaign that it would be difficult to name them all. We are grateful to everybody who gave us the least assistance.

Not a single lodge to which appeal was made failed to do mate, and some of them expressed regrets that they were not able to do more. This is also true of a large number of individuals, who contributed.

"We regret that as many people did not come to the meeting of the Council as we anticipated and prepared for. We were told by those who were in a position to know the facts that there would be between three and five thousand visitors in time and five thousand visitors in time for them to be posted in the ticket offices in many places, kept hundreds of people away. The general financial depression outside of the state caused many who had written they were comink to cancel reservations. For this the Citizens' Committee is in no wise responsible. The Committee assures the public that by far the larger part of the money collected in the campaign has gone into paying for the completion of the new St. James Temple, so the money collected in the campaign to raise funds to entertain it have been of inext and the campaign to raise funds to entertain it have been of inext findings made public.

It demonstrated that the people could and would get together and work for the success of any cause that har for its purpose the good of the city Our group sadly needs a hospith of its own where our people can be properly cared for, and our young women who desire it, can be trained as nurses. We need a civic league with one or two paid men, to go into Ne gro districts and get our people and property owners to fix sidewalks, and to superh land the fixing of them. Such a league could initiate a numger of other civic improvements that our people need as a group. But that we will say more about later when the people shall have rested a bit from the work of this Bishops Council drive."
